Another settlement in Massachusetts as it is now called was only of a temporary nature. The granting of Charters by King James I was the first impetus to colonisation. The outcome of the King s action was the formation of two Chartered Companies, the London, and the Plymouth, which were to be governed by councils appointed by the King but were allowed to appoint colonial councils of 13 with powers that were really absolute. The London Company retained its charter for 22 years but the addition to, and subdivision of, the original colony of Virginia was such that by the year 1732 there were besides the original, Maryland - granted to Lord Baltimore, - North and South Carolina, and Georgia. Meanwhile, through the exploitation of the Plymouth Company and with colonists who had separated from the Church of England together with those who wished to be free from the supervision of the Crown and its agents, the colony of Massachusetts was formed in 1629. From this colony sprang those of Connecticut and Rhode Island both of which received charters from the Crown in 1662 and 1663 respectively....
